The official status of infantile paralysis in Westerly and Pawcatuck unchanged since Sunday, with a total of three cases, including one death. Strict police quarantine is being maintained in the affected premises. In addition, seven suspected cases were reported Monday, and in each instance quarantine is in force, and will be until it is definitely determined whether there is substantial basis for the sus-there is substantial basis for the suspicion of infantile paralysis.

At the meeting held in the office of Dr. Michael H. Scanlon it was voted to issue notice of warning to the public, signed by William A. Hillard, M. D., secretary of the Westerly Physicians' Medical society, by Lewis Stanton, superintendent of health for the town of Westerly, Charles F. Congdon, M. D., health officer of the town of Stonlington, and by Thurman P. Main, M. D., health officer of the town of Stonlington. The notice reads as follows:

In view of the fact that infantile In view of the fact that infantile paralysis is epidemic in New York and that there have been a few cases re-ported in Washington and New London counties, the Westerly Physicians' as-sociation and the health officers of the towns of Westerly, Stoniagton and North Stonington have adopted meas-ures for the protection of the public against the possible occurrence of cases in this locality.

in this locality.

The public should adhere to the following suggestions as near as possi-ble: That children under 16 years of age should be kept at home, thus avoiding public gatherings, such as moving picture theatres. Sunday schools, picnics, band concerts, par-ties, etc., as well as trolley excursions.

If this suggestion is followed out, no undue anxiety need be felt.

The public health officials have the situation well in hand and all emergencies have been provided for, even suspected cases being investigated and

No More Back-Breaking Scuttles To Be Carried Up Those Cellar Stairs

If you buy coal in large quantities you must have room to store it; if in small quantities, it is expensive. When you want to use it you must carry it from its storage place to your range, and of all tasks that is one of the most weary.

When you burn wood or coal you have the heat, dirt, and the trouble of attending to the fire. If you use gas you require no room for storage; no back-breaking scuttles to be carried from the cellar to the kitchen. The fire in the gas range burns steadily and without attention; it is always ready, without dirt or trouble, in large or small quantities.
